Monday, 16 Dec 2013

09.00 welcome:
Graham Storey Room, Trinity Hall
Dr William O'Reilly, Cambridge University
& Tom Tölle, Princeton University

09.30 paper 1: Daniel Robinson, Cambridge University
'The Law of Nations, Universal Monarchy, and British American Attitudes to the Outbreak of the War of the Austrian Succession, c. 1740 - 1748'
comment: Julie Stephens, Mellon Postdoctoral Research Fellow

10.15 paper 2: Mieke van der Linden, Tilburg University
'The inextricable connection between historical consciousness and international law: new imperialism, the International Court of Justice and its interpretation of the inter-temporal rule.'
comment: Rohit De, Mellon Postdoctoral Research Fellow

11.00-11.15 break

11.15 paper 3: Rachel Furst, Jerusalem/Oxford
'Unrecorded justice: the record-keeping practices of medieval Jewish court' comment: Mieke van der Linden

12.00 paper 4: Anna M. Schwindt, FU Berlin
'Reflecting on the legal aspects of slavery: two German self-narratives from early modern Ottoman Empire (1610 and 1613)'
comment: William O'Reilly

12.45 luncheon: buffet style, Graham Storey Room

13.45 paper 5: Florian Schmitz, Universität Bern
'Context determination of law in the early modern times in the case of "corruption"
comment: Tom Tölle

14.30 paper 6: Svenja Bethke, Institut Geschichte der deutschen Juden, Hamburg
'Definitions of “Criminality” and “Law” in a Community of Coercion – the Perspective of the Jewish Councils in Ghettos during the Holocaust'
comment: Lily Chang, Henry Lumley Research Fellow, Magdalene College

15.15 paper 7: Kornelia Konczal, European University Institute, Florence
'The Plundering of German Property and Reconstruction of Social Order in Central Europe after 1945'
comment: Svenja Bethke

16.00 Final discussion and details of conference in March 2014